Your Name: Charlotte Ward	Organisation (Group work, group chat, scheduling shooting time with CMISA CEM. Fully handled emails). Assistant on writing and research, performing about 40% of the script writing and 10% of the research (mostly to fill in gaps at the time of writing). Gaffer, chose to utilise a green screen. Produced lighting diagram (as below) and managed lighting setup after it has d been arranged by the CMISA CEM. Made the decision to use a white key light and a blue fill light for some easy stylisation.    Shooting on set, utilising cameras and controlling cut/lighting/directing. Tiny bit of assistance with editing, grabbing timestamps, transcoding footage, etc. 5% of the work, as an estimate.	4

	I also did a small amount of work on-screen, mostly as parts of jokes that were written into the script, rather than proper speaking roles.
Group Member's Name (1): Shamus Pacelli	Primary editor, writer and on-screen talent. Did about 60% of the writing for the script itself, a good amount of research (probably equal to Abbie's work). Well sourced and useful for script-writing in the end. We wrote the script in a pair environment over the course of about 3 days. The on-screen talent on the filming, reading the script in it's entirety. 95% of the editing work.	5
Group Member's Name (2): Abbie Burton	Provided a large research document of which much was utilised. Properly referenced, very useful for script-writing. Assisted on-set with operating the teleprompter, providing ideas while shooting, etc. Set up the teleprompter to utilise the script which required manual-combing to get through. No assistance with editing.	3
Group Member's Name (3): Bayley Wirtzfeld-Anscombe	Provided a medium-sized research document of which a fair amount was utilised. A lot of good references in this document which made writing the script easier. No assistance on-set due to scheduling issues, but their work is still very much appreciated. No assistance with editing.	2
